Introduction

The Qualified Lawyers Transfer Regulations (QLTR) allow certain overseas and other UK qualified lawyers to become qualified as solicitors in England and Wales (E&W).

There are usually two requirements that overseas lawyers are required to meet (depending on which jurisdiction they are qualified in) before applying for admission as a solicitor of E&W

1. Pass the Qualified Lawyers Transfer Test (QLTT) and
2. Satisfy a two-year legal experience of the law of E&W requirement.

The QLTT is split into four subjects called 'heads'. These are:

Head I – Property

Head II – Litigation

Head III – Professional Conduct and Accounts

Head IV – Principles of Common Law.

The regulations determine which of the head(s) you are required to pass and whether you are required to satisfy the two-year experience requirement.

The first step for any lawyer who wishes to qualify as a solicitor under the QLTR is to apply to the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA) for a certificate of eligibility using the application form detailed below.

If your application is successful you will be issued with a certificate of eligibility which confirms which of the head(s) of the QLTT you are required to pass and whether you are required to undertake any further legal experience before applying for admission as a solicitor.

As soon as you have satisfied all of the requirements imposed in your certificate of eligibility you may apply for admission as a solicitor.

Guidance on applicable experience

If you are applying under one of the following regulations;

- Regulation 6 (English/Welsh Barristers),
- Regulation 10 (Barristers of Northern Ireland),
- Regulation 11 (overseas lawyers) or
- Regulation 15 (Academic Lawyers)

before applying for admission to the roll of solicitors you must satisfy the SRA that you have gained at least two years legal experience. This must be within the last five years and be consistent with service under a training contract. In order to satisfy this requirement you need to have gained experience in at least three different areas of law covering both contentious and non-contentious areas of practise.

The above two year requirement may be reduced if you have already gained legal experience either in your home jurisdiction, in E&W or overseas in the practise of the law of E &W or common law.

The types of work that we would expect you to have undertaken include, but is not limited to:

- client care and practice support skills
- communication skills
- drafting
- interviewing and advising
- legal research
- advocacy and oral presentation skills
- case and transaction management
- dispute resolution
- negotiation

Contentious work

Work is regarded as contentious where:

- it is done before proceedings are begun, providing that the business is done with a view to proceedings being begun; and
- they have in fact begun; or
- it is undertaken in the course of proceedings.

Contentious experience may be obtained through advocacy, litigation or dispute resolution. The following activities may provide the opportunity for this experience. These are suggestions only of what might constitute contentious business. The list below is not exhaustive and relevant experience may be gained in other areas:

- pre-trial procedures,
- preparing cases before trial,
- negotiating terms of settlement,
- bail applications, pleas of mitigation or committal, submissions in chambers,
- examination, cross examination and re-examination in open court,
- preparation and conduct of summary trial, committal proceedings or a trial on indictment ,
- drafting instructions for counsel,
- preparing the papers and undertaking proceedings in family cases, industrial tribunals, planning tribunals or other tribunals or forms of dispute resolution,
- conducting interim applications,
- the process to enforce judgements,

- mediation and arbitration,
- remedies that result in court proceedings such as withdrawal from a contract or failure to complete a transaction in time.

The following types of employment may be considered.

Post-qualification/admission

- Legal employment in the office of a solicitor or lawyer in private practice.
- Up to 12 months pupillage certified by the General Council of the Bar of England and Wales.
- Practise at the Bar i.e. tenancy or squatting.
- In-house legal employment in a legal department headed by a solicitor or barrister of at least 5 years standing with:
 - Crown Prosecution Service,
 - Her Majesty's Court Service,
 - the Civil Service,
 - local government,
 - a Public Authority or
 - commerce or industry.

Pre-qualification/admission

In some jurisdictions it is a requirement before admission for trainees to complete a period of practical training, 'articles' or a training contract. This training forms part of the formal qualifying requirements in those jurisdictions.

Pre admission/call experience is usually only considered if the experience in question has been gained as part of formal training requirements as above.

We may also consider relevant legal experience gained after you have sat the relevant qualifying examinations (e.g. Bar Exams) in your home jurisdiction.

Consideration of experience that does not fall into one of the above categories will need to be referred to an adjudicator once an application has been made.

Section 6 – Character and suitability

The SRA has a responsibility under the Solicitors Act 1974 to ensure that there are no issues, which could call into question your character and suitability as a solicitor. Before being admitted to the roll of solicitors, you will be asked to confirm that you have disclosed any issues that relate to your character and suitability and will be asked to complete checks, such as CRB, to verify this.

You must answer all of questions 1 to 8 (please tick where appropriate). Please note convictions which are 'spent' under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 must be disclosed by virtue of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order 1975

If you have answered 'Yes' to any of questions 1 to 8 you must provide a full statement of the events leading up to the incident.

Section 7 – Referees

Please provide the names and address of one person we may contact who is not related to you.

If you have answered 'Yes' to any of the character and suitability questions in Section 6 please give the details of two additional referees. All referees should know you well and be able to comment on your professional experience and expertise. If you are currently in employment, one of the referees must be from your current firm.

Please PRINT these details clearly. Please note that we will contact your referees, if necessary.

Section 7a (QLTT1) only practising certificates

If you are intending to hold yourself out or commence practise as an E&W admitted solicitor you will require a practising certificate. Please provide the details of the organisation where you will be employed and when you wish your certificate to commence from.

Section 8 – Declaration

Please complete the declaration in full. The declaration must be witnessed by another practising solicitor or lawyer in your home jurisdiction, or a lawyer in the jurisdiction where you are currently working or residing. Please note that if the declaration is incomplete your application will be returned to you.

Section 9 – Data Protection Act 1988

Please tick where appropriate.

Section 10 – Checklist of required documents

Ensure that you have included all required documentation in the format requested. Failure to do so will delay your application and may result in your application being returned.

Section 11 – Ethnic origin

Please tick where appropriate.

Note: we do not return original documents.

Your application will be returned to you if you submit irrelevant or unnecessary information or if you submit large files or folders.

What happens next?

As soon as we have received your application we will send you an acknowledgement letter giving you a reference number which should be quoted at all times when you contact us.

We will check your application to ensure that we have all of the documents we require. We will also carry out routine enquiries with other organisations such as your professional body and immigration checks with the Home Office in the UK. This process will take approximately 8 weeks from receipt of your application. If we have all of the information and documentation needed, we will issue your certificate of eligibility.

If we do not have all of the documentation required we will return the application to you.

In certain cases it is necessary to refer the application to an adjudicator before your certificate of eligibility can be issued. If an application has to be referred to an adjudicator this will delay the issue of a certificate of eligibility.

Once issued, your certificate of eligibility will confirm:

- which of the head(s) of the QLTT you are required to pass; and
- whether you are required to undertake a period of further experience before applying for admission to the roll of solicitors of E&W.

Once you have received your certificate of eligibility you may apply to one of the test providers on page 13 to make your arrangements for sitting the test. Please note that your certificate of eligibility is valid for three years. If you do not pass the tests within the validity of your certificate you will be required to make a new application along with fresh documentation and the current fee.

Please note that the time scales above are guidelines. We cannot guarantee that a certificate of eligibility will be issued to enable you to enter for a particular sitting of the Qualified Lawyers Transfer Test therefore we strongly suggest that you obtain your certificate prior to booking space with the test providers.

Admission to the roll of solicitors

As soon as you have passed all of your required head(s) of the QLTT and satisfied any work experience imposed, you will be eligible to apply for admission to the roll of solicitors of E&W.

As part of its quality programme and to aid consumer protection, the SRA has introduced a compulsory requirement for all individuals to obtain a satisfactory Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) check. Therefore to ensure that your admission to the roll of solicitors may proceed you must complete and return a CRB Disclosure Application Form to us, failure to do so will prevent your admission from proceeding.

The SRA will make use of the CRB checks in other jurisdictions where these are available. Further details on how you can obtain this can be found on the CRB website www.crb.gov.uk/overseas. Once we have received a satisfactory result from these checks we will be able to grant your admission to the roll of solicitors.

If you are intending to practise as a solicitor upon your admission to the roll of solicitors you will need to apply for a practising certificate (PC). You can request both the application form for admission (AD1) and for a practising certificate (RF3) and the CRB Disclosure Application Form from Information Services.

Please note that you will be required to produce another certificate of good standing from your primary (first) jurisdiction when you apply for admission to the roll of solicitors.
